

Poppies and Crosses

Crosses and poppies mark the lines of the soldiers who fought for our lives, leaving behind their worldly possessions, children and wives.

They fought for us so we could be here today,
in this crazy hectic world where we know we're okay.

We pay our respects each and every year, on remembrance day,

We share in their sorrow and their fear.

I thank the soldiers for fighting the fight, giving me a chance to make my future bright.

By: Charlie Landry